GREEKE. Price $2.25 per volume. Subscriptions will now be received.

From Jared Sparks, LL. D.

The work you propose will be a very valuable contribution to American History. I have read many of Gen. Greene's letters. They are marked by a peculiar felicity of style. a clear ness of conception, a duency of language, a depth of thought and a range of ideas, which prove at once the power and versatility of his mind. His energy of character and action was equaled only by the ardor of his patrictism.

From the late Vice President Wm. R. King.

Born in North Carclina, I feel the obligations of my native State, and of the whole South, to General Greene. He was without doubt the great military genius of the Revolution.

I shall subscribe for a copy of the "Life and Dispatches of General Greene," to place beside the "Life and Writings of Washington." These names are indissoluble in their immortality.

From Alexander Hamilton's Eulogy on Gen. Greene.

In his life we have a succession of deeds as glorious as they are une quivocal to attest his greatness and perpetuate the honors of his name. His abilities entitled him to a preeminent share in the counsels of his Chief. He gained it and he pre-share in the counsels of his Chief. He gained it and he preserved it.

From the Hon. Edward Everett

I sm happy to learn that you propose to publish the Letters and Dispatches of General Greens. His position in the army of the Revoutien, second only to that of its illustrious Chief, and the importance of the events with which he was immediately connected, will make his correspondence highly interesting to the general reader, and catremely important to the student of American History.

From a speech of the Hon. R. Toombs, in the U. S. Senste, Dec 23, 1856, on Revolutionary Claims.

I hope the unpublished papers of General Greene will soon be printed, because there are in them many Revolutionary runniccures of great interest, and they will be valuable even for the administration of justice on an occasion like this. I have had access to some of these papers through the kindness of his son.

of his son.

From the (th vol. of Irving's "Life of Washington."

The news of Greene's death struck heavily on Washington's beart, to whem, in the most archoos trials of the Revolution, he had been a second seif. "He was a great and good man," was Washington's comprehensive cology of him.

We are happy to learn (adds Irving) that a complete collection of the correspondence of G neral Greene is about to be be published by his worthy and highly cultivated grandsut. George Washington Greene It is a work that, like Sparks's "Writings of Washington," should form a part of every American library.
